$200,000 Fire Hits Mt. Gilead Pottery

CHIEF OF FIRE BRIGADE DIES LEAVING SCENE

Volunteers Hampered By Lack of Water In Fighting Early Morning Blaze.

150 LOSE EMPLOYMENT

Plant Manager Fears Secret Formulas Lost; Kiln Cited as Cause.

MT. GILEAD—One of the most destructive fires in Mt. Gilead's history early today destroyed the Florence Pottery company's plant at a loss estimated at $200,000 and resulted directly in the death of Harold C. Johnstone, 66, chief of the village's volunteer fire brigade.

Chief Johnstone, village councilman for 16 years and Mt. Gilead barber for the past 40 years, died of a heart attack as he was leaving the blaze. Village officials said the attack was induced by excitement and the chief's exertion in battling the fire.

Discovered about 1 a. m. by three employees of the pottery plant, the blaze swept through the two-story brick and frame structure in three hours. Volunteer fire fighters were handicapped by the lack of water. They found a 100-gallon water tank empty after hauling it across town to the fire. The plant was outside the city limits and there was no water main near it.

Destruction of the 55-year-old industrial plant left 150 persons out of work. The plant was the second largest in Morrow county. The firm had the largest order file in its history and expected a busy winter. Plant Manager Lawton Gonder said. He added that no decision had been reached today on rebuilding the plant.

Gonder said it was possible that secret formulas used in manufacturing the Rumrill Art pottery line may have been lost in the blaze. The formulas enabled the plant to give a special glaze to its pottery.

The alarm was given by Willard Gardner of Mt. Gilead, who was working on the second floor of the building. With Gardner when (Continued on Page 3, Col. 5)

Dominion Workers Pick AFL as Agent In NLRB Election

Employees in the production, press room and maintenance departments at the Dominion Electrical company plant voted 210 to eight in a National Labor Relations board election at the plant yesterday to be represented by the Machinists union (AFL), Local 1405, in worker-management relations.

However, plant operations remained at a standstill today during wage and closed shop contract negotiations.

Union members voted at a mass meeting Monday to continue their strike until the contract was signed if they should win the election bargaining agent.

Samuel Shapiro, Dominion personnel manager, said this morning that union representatives had asked for contract terms calling for a general wage hike, an eight hour day, time and a half for overtime, double pay for Sunday and holiday work, and a closed shop in their departments.

Before the election CIO union representatives had waived their right to appear on the ballot, allowing choice of whether workers wished to be represented by the AFL union or by no union.

Other workers in the plants—platers and buffers—already held union contracts but have refused to cross the Local 1405 picket line.

County Sends 522 In First Year of Draft

45 More Examined Today In Last Of Local 'Physicals'

With the nation's first peacetime draft a year old today, physicians were examining 45 Richland county selectees at the army in the last "physical" to be held here under revised selective service regulations.

After Nov. 1, all selectees from this county will go directly to Fort Hayes, Columbus, for examination.

Men being examined today bring for a quota of 45 will bring this county's contributions to the civilian army to 567.

Ohio, which registered approximately 840,000 men on Oct. 16, 1940 for possible military service had already sent 92,434 and will have inducted nearly 100,000 by the month's end.

Of the 522 Richland county men now serving, 196 were sent from Board No. 1; 157 from Board 2; and 169 from Board 3.

Ohio had contributed 47,097 men before Oct. 1 who had enlisted for service. Of that total, the army had 22,054; the navy, 12,338; national guard, 10,135; marine corps, 22,200; and the coast guard, 370.

Before the draft was started last year the U. S. army numbered only 355,000 men with hardly enough mechanized equipment to mention, and the navy, although recognized by experts as a formidable first line of defense, wasn't at peak strength.

The army now totals 1,580,775, including 750,000 selectees, and constant expansion is bringing to reality plans for a two-ocean navy.

The state's first draft call was for only 996 men but on Dec. 23, 1940, a total of 9,958 Ohioans were called out to bring the 37th (National guard) division, to full wartime strength of nearly 19,000 men.

Successive calls were small and then, almost simultaneously with registration of 750,000 men just turned 21, congress cut the nation's potential manpower supply nearly a third by deferring from training all men over 28 on July 1. Congress next extended the service term from the original one year to a period not to exceed 30 months.

DANGER PAST

Health Officials Will Permit Schools To Re-open.

JEROMESVILLE — Closed by the Ashland county board of health since Oct. 6, because one woman died and a school girl was stricken with infantile paralysis in the Jeromesville area, schools and churches will reopen Oct. 26, according to the Ashland county health commissioner's office.

No new cases of the disease have been reported to the board of health since Miriam Landis, a pupil in the Jeromesville school, was stricken at a high school entertainment Friday, Oct. 3 and county health officials believe the danger is past.

Last week Ashland county had requested children to keep off the streets and out of public places to avoid any possible contact with the disease.

Bromfield, Brunner Back In Governor's Race Limelight

Two leading Richland county Democrats, Author Louis Bromfield and Henry G. Brunner, who retired recently as Ohio manager of the Home Owners Loan corporation, were back in the limelight today as possible candidates for governor in 1942 after a preferential poll conducted last night at Lima showed that both are popular with party leaders in northwestern Ohio.

The poll was conducted at a Democratic "warm-up" meeting for the election next year. Political observers also regarded it as State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson's first major bid for the party's nomination for governor.

Ferguson was the principal speaker at the meeting and polled 366 votes to head the list of 18 possible candidates who received votes in the poll.

X-ray Machine Hunts Down T. B. Infection

X-ray examinations made possible by a $3,000 gift to the Richland County Tuberculosis association have been started this week among pupils in the junior class of Mansfield High school in an effort to discover possible tuberculosis infections. Pupils in the top photo are shown waiting outside the x-ray "clinic" in the high school after school officials have received cards granting examination permission from parents. James McClure of 87 Stewart street is shown in the lower picture waiting while Dr. Wilnot Peirce exposes the x-ray plate. Dr. T. L. Bliss of Akron and Dr. F. J. Heringhaus of Mansfield will read the developed plates in the City building and route discovery of infection to family physicians for treatment.

STRIKE HALTS DEFENSE WORK

Walkout at River Rouge Steel Plant Fourth In Past Four Months.

(By Associated Press) A new strike halted operations today at a big Detroit steel plant, while at Pascagoula, Miss., AFL union leaders recommended resumption of work at a strikebound shipyard.

The dispute at the Great Lakes Steel Corporation in River Rouge was the fourth in four months, and officials of the firm termed it a "wildcat" strike. The plant employs 8,000 men and has many defense orders.

Four hundred men present at a union meeting last night booed down Orville Kincaid, their regional director, when he attempted to announce the results of wage adjustment negotiations he had carried on with the management. One critic said the adjustments called for an increase of only one cent an hour for common labor, and a picket line (Continued on Page 3, Col. 4)

Under the man's tongue he found a $1 bill. The rest of the money taken from J. A. Layton—six cents—was found in a pants pocket.

Juniors Aid Battle Against Disease With Examinations

Peeling off their shirts for x-ray examinations, 60 boys at Senior high school yesterday had become the vanguard of 450 boys and girls in the Junior class who are undergoing parent-approved examination for possible tuberculosis infection.

Conducted by the Richland County Tuberculosis association, the tests are made in a special x-ray room set up at the school and equipped with a machine purchased by the association through an anonymous $3,000 donation.

After parents signify approval of the tests, on cards mailed to them last week, pupils' chest measurements are recorded on x-ray plates by Mrs. Margaret Adams.

Pupils follow the plate to the examination room.

There, Dr. Wilnot Peirce, acting for the association, places the numbered plate against the wall. Each pupil faces his plate and the x-ray machine—resembling an ordinary photographer's camera, outwardly at least—is aimed at the subject's back.

"Click," says the x-ray machine. "That's all," says Dr. Peirce. And then the exposed plates are taken to City building where, after development, the films are viewed by Dr. T. L. Bliss of Akron and Dr. F. J. Heringhaus.

In the event the physicians find the pupil to be infected findings will be turned over to their family physicians.

Junior class pupils are chosen for the test because persons in their age group are squarely in the midst of the dangerous age—15 to 26—for contraction of the disease and students treated as a result of x-ray findings can be checked again next year and results established.

On completion of the tests at Senior high school the portable equipment will be moved to other Richland county high schools for similar tests.

Scheduled to last five years, the test will go a long way towards eliminating the disease from the county, physicians say.

G. O. P. RELAXES FIGHT AGAINST SHIP ARMING

Report Shift In Sentiment as House Prepares To Vote on Measure.

PREDICT PASSAGE

Would Allow Cargo Vessels To Be Armed as Rapidly as They Reach Port.

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON —(AP)—As the house opened debate today on the ship-arming bill, both Speaker Rayburn and Majority Leader McCormack predicted that the measure would pass by mid-afternoon tomorrow "by a very, very substantial majority."

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON —Well-informed house sources reported today increasing signs that Republicans were slowly abandoning their opposition to President Roosevelt's foreign policies and would vote in surprising numbers to permit the arming of United States merchant ships.

These sources predicted that the final rollcall, probably tomorrow, on a resolution to repeal the neutrality act prohibition against putting guns on cargo vessels would show more Republicans voting "aye" than on any recent foreign-policy legislation.

This shift in sentiment was reported as the house met (at 11 a. m. E. S. T.) an hour earlier than usual to start debate on the simple repealer.

The measure reached the floor without the approval of six of the ten Republicans on the house foreign affairs committee. These critics called the measure a step in a campaign to "put us into war by subterfuge," but even some of their number conceded that it would be passed by a substantial majority.

One of the minority party leaders, who declined use of his name, said that Republicans who have visited their districts in recent weeks have returned to the capital "a little more open-minded" on international policies the United States should pursue.

No precipitation was recorded yesterday but weather reports indicated that the increasing cloudiness might bring rain tomorrow night accompanying the warmer weather.

Action Linked To Increasing Peril of Reds

Tokyo Reports Indicate Nippon Gets Set for Move on Soviet; Cabinet Action Follows Failure of Talks To Better Relations With U. S.

(Compiled From Latest Cables)

The government of Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye fell today after failing to negotiate rapprochement with the United States and speculation centered on the possible creation of a strong military government to meet any war emergency affecting the Pacific.

On the heels of the resignation, the influential newspaper Kokumin, regarded as the mouthpiece of the Japanese army, said in a leading editorial:

"Japan cannot feel safe while Stalin is at the head of the Moscow government . . .

"German-Japanese relations are steadily improving . . .

"Communism — the enemy of mankind — must be destroyed."

The Japanese "war party" was expected to take over political control of the country again. Former Premier Yosuke Matsuoka was considered Konoye's most likely successor.

Matsuoka, however, has been quoted as saying he never again would head a Japanese government which opposed the policies of the United States.

The fall of Konoye's third cabinet was held in Tokyo to mark the end of Japan's policy of moderation. The Japanese press placed heavy emphasis upon the statement of Captain Hideo Hiraide, chief of the naval intelligence section of imperial headquarters, who said that Japanese-American relations are "approaching a final parting of the ways" and that the Japanese navy is "prepared for the worst."

Her choice seemed linked closely with developments in the war of the west where half-ringed Moscow had come to its hour of peril with the mechanized assault forces of Japan's Axis ally, Germany, reported only 62 miles from the Soviet capital, their crush still untempered.

Authoritative sources in British and Russian-guarded Iran said the Soviet government and foreign diplomatic missions had completed arrangements to move 450 miles east of Moscow to the crowded provincial city of Kazan if Moscow could not be saved. The Japanese embassy already had quit Moscow for an (Continued on Page 3, Col. 1)

CLAIM 'PEACE TALKS' FAIL

Washington Regards Japanese Resignations as Victory For Nazis In Far East.

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON — Resignation of Japan's Konoye cabinet was believed in informed quarters today to mark a collapse in the two-month old "peace talks" between Japan and the United States.

The resignation also caused renewed speculation among officials as to the possibility of a Japanese move against Russia.

Officials here regarded the resignation as a victory for Japan's pro-Axis element in their struggle against Konoye's policy of attempting to improve relations with the United States.

The discussions between the two powers were opened two months ago at Premier Konoye's direct request to President Roosevelt. The Japanese premier, it was said, staked the future of his cabinet on the outcome of the talks, and his resignation could be taken to mean they were unsuccessful.

Well-informed quarters said that if a new cabinet of military and pro-Nazi elements is formed it might indicate that Japan is ready to embark on a military campaign against Russia while the (Continued on Page 3, Col. 6)

JAP CABINET RESIGNS, NEW CRISIS LOOMS

Action Believed Taken Due To Growing Peril of Reds, Battling Near Moscow.

The resignation of Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye's cabinet came out of a welter of high government conferences just three months after his previous government fell.

The exact issues of their disagreement were not disclosed immediately but it was known that the ministers were not in accord on the empire's relations with the United States and its course toward Russia.

Konoye and some other leaders were reported reliably to be holding to the hope of diplomatic settlement of differences between the United States and Japan.

But pressure for abandonment of this course was increasingly strong in the Tokyo press which declared efforts to reach an accord had failed and demanded that attempts toward conciliation with the United States be ended.

The successes of German arms in European Russia are understood to have played a prominent part in the Japanese government discussions, too, with the strong military faction watching intently for an hour of weakness in which Japan might strike an effective blow for the Axis from the east.

The German high command pictured the entire Russian defense line as crumbling from the fury of two weeks of intensified assault with dive bombers, tanks and masses of infantry.

It declared that Kalinin, 95 miles northwest of Moscow, and Kaluga, 90 miles southwest of the capital, were in German hands. These apparently were the flanking forward posts of the semicircle of steel being closed on the hard-pressed capital.

The German statement that Nazi troops were 62 miles from Moscow referred apparently to the sector west of the city, where fighting had been reported along the old Napoleonic invasion road near Borodino, 70 miles from the capital, and Mozhaisk, 60 miles from Moscow.

Authoritative London sources declared the battle west of the Soviet capital "now has reached its crisis" but added that although very heavy fighting continued "it would not appear that the Germans made any very big advance during the last 24 hours."

Far to the south, the Rumanian army announced its forces had broken the defense lines of Odessa and the Black sea port was in flames. The Rumanians and Germans have been before Odessa since Aug. 19.

The frank admission by the Russians that their capital was in peril was sharpened by an announcement by the Japanese foreign office in Tokyo that the Russian foreign commissariat had advised the Japanese embassy staff in Moscow to prepare to withdraw.

The Japanese said the staff and other Japanese, totaling 24 persons, had left the city for an undisclosed destination.

The Russians already have begun moving women, children and old men from the city.

The disclosure that the Russian lines had cracked was made in a belated communique early this morning. It announced that the Red army's position in the west had "deteriorated," that the Germans by virtue of a large quantity of tanks and motorized infantry had breached the Russian defenses in one sector.

The mid-day communique said the Soviets were fighting along the whole front and that the action was particularly intense west of Moscow.

It said the Germans were throwing fresh units into the battle. The mid-day communique made no acknowledgment of German gains — in fact, it was claimed that the Reds had scored in the Leningrad area by capturing prisoners. The Leningrad soldiers were reported attempting to ease the pressure on Moscow.

DNB, official German news agency, reported the Russian cities of Kalinin, 95 miles northwest of Moscow on the most direct rail route between Moscow and Leningrad, and Kaluga, 90 miles southwest of Moscow, have been in German hands for several days.

DNB also said the Germans are fighting at Moscow's "outer defense lines."

German military quarters in Berlin expressed belief that the last line of defense of Moscow had been virtually wiped out with the German-announced crushing of the greater part of Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's forces at Vyazma and Bryansk.

Behind the front the Germans still experienced difficulties.

DNB reported from Prague, capital of old Czechoslovakia, that authorities there had ordered confiscation of radio receiving sets of all residents of two districts of that city.

The report said the action was caused by the spread "of a whispering campaign and anti-Nazi activity obviously due to listening to foreign broadcasts."

In Shanghai, French Indo-China, said the Japanese were massing forces in northern Indo-China "presumably for action against China."

Such a drive would be aimed at Burma Road, a supply route for China.

A report from Paiping, China, said the Japanese were mobilizing all able-bodied white Russians between 17 and 40 years of age throughout north China for six months of compulsory military training, supposedly to serve in a possible Japanese-Soviet war.

POLL MENTIONS 2 MANSFIELDERS

Brunner, Bromfield Back In Ohio Gubernatorial Race Spotlight Again.

Brunner received 11 votes to 10 for Bromfield in the Lima poll. Others who received several votes were John McSweeney, at Wooster, Clarence Knisley, at Wooster, Stephen M. Young, at Chardon, and George Martin L. Dwyer, at Chardon, and Secretary of State John E. Sweeney.

There was a brief lull in the Mansfield municipal campaign today with neither party scheduling a rally tonight. The Democrats will hold their second meeting Friday night at the courthouse, while Republican leaders said they will not launch their campaign officially until next Tuesday night.

G. O. P. leaders said today they were little perturbed by the attack Fred M. Bushnell, Democratic candidate for mayor, made on Mayor William J. Locke at a rally Tuesday night.

Mayor Locke, seeking his second term, is not expected to make a public statement until the Republican rally Tuesday night at Radio City hall on North Walnut street. The mayor said he preferred to concentrate his campaign in the final two weeks before the Nov. 4 election.

Ralph Hardy, county Republican executive chairman, said he was confident the mayor would "adequately answer Bushnell's attack without engaging in personalities." He said Mayor Locke had the support of the majority of the city's business and professional men and that the action was particularly intense west of Moscow.

It said the Germans were

RELAXES FIGHT AGAINST ARMING

Shift In G. O. P. Sentiment Reported as House Gets Ready To Vote.

"Today we are a united people, with Republicans no less than Democrats joined in the cause of assuring American freedom," Bender said.

"Whatever we may think of the present national administration, we must put these views aside. We must not permit personalities to determine American policies."

He proposed that Republicans follow their course in 1917 and 1918 when he said, "we joined wholeheartedly in every effort to finish the battle; we substituted co-operation for opposition."

While the Democratic majority on the foreign affairs committee contented itself with a brief report to the house asserting that the neutrality act amendment was "a matter of extreme urgency," the six Republican dissenters filed a voluminous document which held that arming of merchant ships would not provide effective protection for their crews and that the proposal "is part of an administration plan to destroy our neutrality laws and put us into war by subterfuge."

It was signed by Representatives Vorys (R-Ohio), Tinkham (R-Mass), Jonkman (R-Mich), Mundt (R-SD), Chipfield (R-Ill) and Bolton (R-Ohio).

The six said that experience had shown that ship arming was ineffective and often did more harm than good. They also quoted Secretary of Navy Knox as having said last month that the government did not have sufficient guns to arm all the ships.

However, Knox told a press conference yesterday that arms would be installed as rapidly as the merchant ships could come into ports, even though there might not be enough weapons to outfit all of them at this time.

On the senate side, meanwhile, informants reported the foreign relations committee would seek to complete hearings on the ship arming measure by the end of next week and that the leadership would try for final senate passage by November 1.

STRIKE HALTS DEFENSE WORK

Walkout at River Rouge Steel Plant Fourth In Past Four Months.

(Continued From Page 1) was formed at the plant gates a short while later. The CIO union has had a contract with the company since July 16.

The announcement of the back-to-work move at the Pascagoula yard of the Ingalls Shipbuilding Corporation came from Federal Conciliator Bryce P. Holcombe, who said representatives of various metal trades unions had agreed to recommend to their membership resumption of operations after three days idleness.

The strike, affecting 2800 men, was certified to the national defense mediation board by the labor department, which explained that AFL boilmakers union had struck because some of the pipe welders in the plant were trying to form an independent union.

The yard has $150,000,000 in national defense orders. A compromise wage boost ended a strike of service workers which had closed eight of the largest hotels in Pittsburgh for 15 days. The hotel operators agreed to increase payrolls by $215,000 a year—a 14 per cent hike as compared with the 20 per cent originally demanded by the strikers.

$200,000 FIRE HITS POTTERY

Fire Chief Dies as Flames Destroy Plant Early Today at Mt. Gilead.

Company officials believed the fire started from an overheated kiln. The flames had gained such headway when they were discovered that officials were doubtful that the building could have been saved even with an adequate water supply.

A trailer in which Mrs. Icie Gatewood, 55, an employee of the pottery plant was sleeping back of the building, was moved away from the fire when a brick wall threatened to fall on the trailer. Mrs. Gatewood slept for a half hour after the fire was discovered.

WPA officials from Columbus were conferring today with Miss Janet Harmon, Morrow county relief director, in an effort to place some of the plant's 150 employees on WPA jobs until they are able to find permanent employment.

J. L. Kelly, district WPA manager, told The News-Journal.

Kelly said it was the policy of WPA to offer all the assistance possible in communities hit by disaster and where workers lose their jobs through no fault of their own.

Funeral services for Mr. Johnstone will be conducted at 3 p. m. Saturday at the Craven funeral home in Mt. Gilead. Rev. Eugene Rush, pastor of the First Methodist church, will officiate. Burial will be in Rivercliff cemetery, Mt. Gilead.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1941.

It's reassuring to recall that the Kaiser won every battle but the last.

Records disclose that automobile accidents caused by drunken drivers reaches a staggering total.

When it came to saving a 5-year-old child lost in an eastern wilderness there was overtime, night and Sunday work, without complaint—but it's different when it comes to saving the nation.

Russia's Part In the War

WITH the German armies advancing in Russia and moving toward encirclement of Moscow, it seems rather ridiculous to talk about what can be done to aid Russia by next year, or the year after.

It would appear, by reports from both sides, that the decision as to Russia's continued resistance, may be a matter of days, rather than months or years, and that neither Great Britain nor the United States is in position to help stem the tide of Nazi invasion.

But—and here is a strange situation—there is no hint of intended let-down in Russian resistance and late word from Moscow tells of bringing up reserves and counterattacking at many points. Not only Hitler, but the entire world seems to have greatly underestimated Russia's military resources and the people of that country must have realized long before now that they are fighting for their lives and their national existence.

In his recent appeal for concentrated material aid to Russia by Great Britain and the United States, Lord Beaverbrook made no reference to the possible fall of Moscow or danger that Russia might be forced out of the war, nor is there an attitude of pessimism on the part of American officials who are proceeding with aid to Russia under the lend-lease program.

Military strategy at the moment is apparently to keep large Nazi forces engaged in Russia until winter sets in and then to prepare for offensive action on the eastern and western fronts next spring—by which time it may be hoped that material aid from the United States will have attained more than its present trickle.

Oppose Non-Defense Prodigality

TAXPAYERS, as individuals, are so completely disregarded by tax spenders that they sometimes lose hope of finding any spokesman in their behalf.

It is interesting, therefore, to note that the Ohio Chamber of Commerce has just launched a movement to combat the federal government's plans to increase non-defense expenditures next year to the extent of $126,000,000.

Local chambers of commerce in Ohio are co-operating in this effort and it is worthy of mention that a joint committee of 12 members of congress is also engaged in the task of working out a schedule intended to cut two billion dollars from non-defense expenses of the federal government.

This committee activity results from an amendment which Senator Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, succeeded in having attached to the new tax bill and indicates that the economy bloc in congress is finally making itself heard above the clamor for wasteful expenditures that has marked the New Deal administration.

No voice is raised against taxation for national defense, and for requirements of the lend-lease program, but it is reasonably contended that, in these circumstances, non-defense spending of public money should be reduced to a minimum by the federal government, states and municipalities.

In taking the initiative in this effort in Ohio the state chamber of commerce is performing a valuable service for all taxpayers—direct and indirect.

Combine Fun and Freedom

HALLOWEEN is going to be celebrated in Chicago with a "Carnival of Nations" which promises to set a good example to other cities. It all began when members of the France Forever organization, which supports De Gaulle, decided to give a show to help and encourage all the oppressed nations and to make it a Halloween affair. From that point plans grew fast.

There will be varied entertainment, including folk dances and songs by costumed groups representing many of the Hitler-invaded countries. There will be booths at which forehanded Christmas shoppers may buy works of handicraft, dolls in costume and bazaar wares of many different lands.

Witches and hobgoblins have their rights on Halloween, to be sure, but they can probably be achieved with just as much gaiety and color and much less mischief by some such program as Chicagoans are preparing.

Advertising Brings Recruits

THE NAVY has turned to the daily newspapers to speed up recruiting. It has done this through paid advertising.

The idea was tried out first in Indiana, Iowa and Missouri. According to the director of navy recruiting, enlistments increased almost fourfold in that area as a result of the advertising campaign. Now the navy is advertising in newspapers in 16 states, with two more to be added soon, and others from time to time. There doesn't seem to be any reason why all 48 states should not be included, and possibly such areas of outlying territories and possessions as have likely material for the navy and newspapers in which to advertise.

With our two-ocean navy developing ahead of schedule, it is plain that the personnel will have to increase rapidly to man the ships.

Efforts to improve the speech habits of Brooklyn school children are meeting with considerable resistance—as the youngsters are under the impression that the language they speak is English.

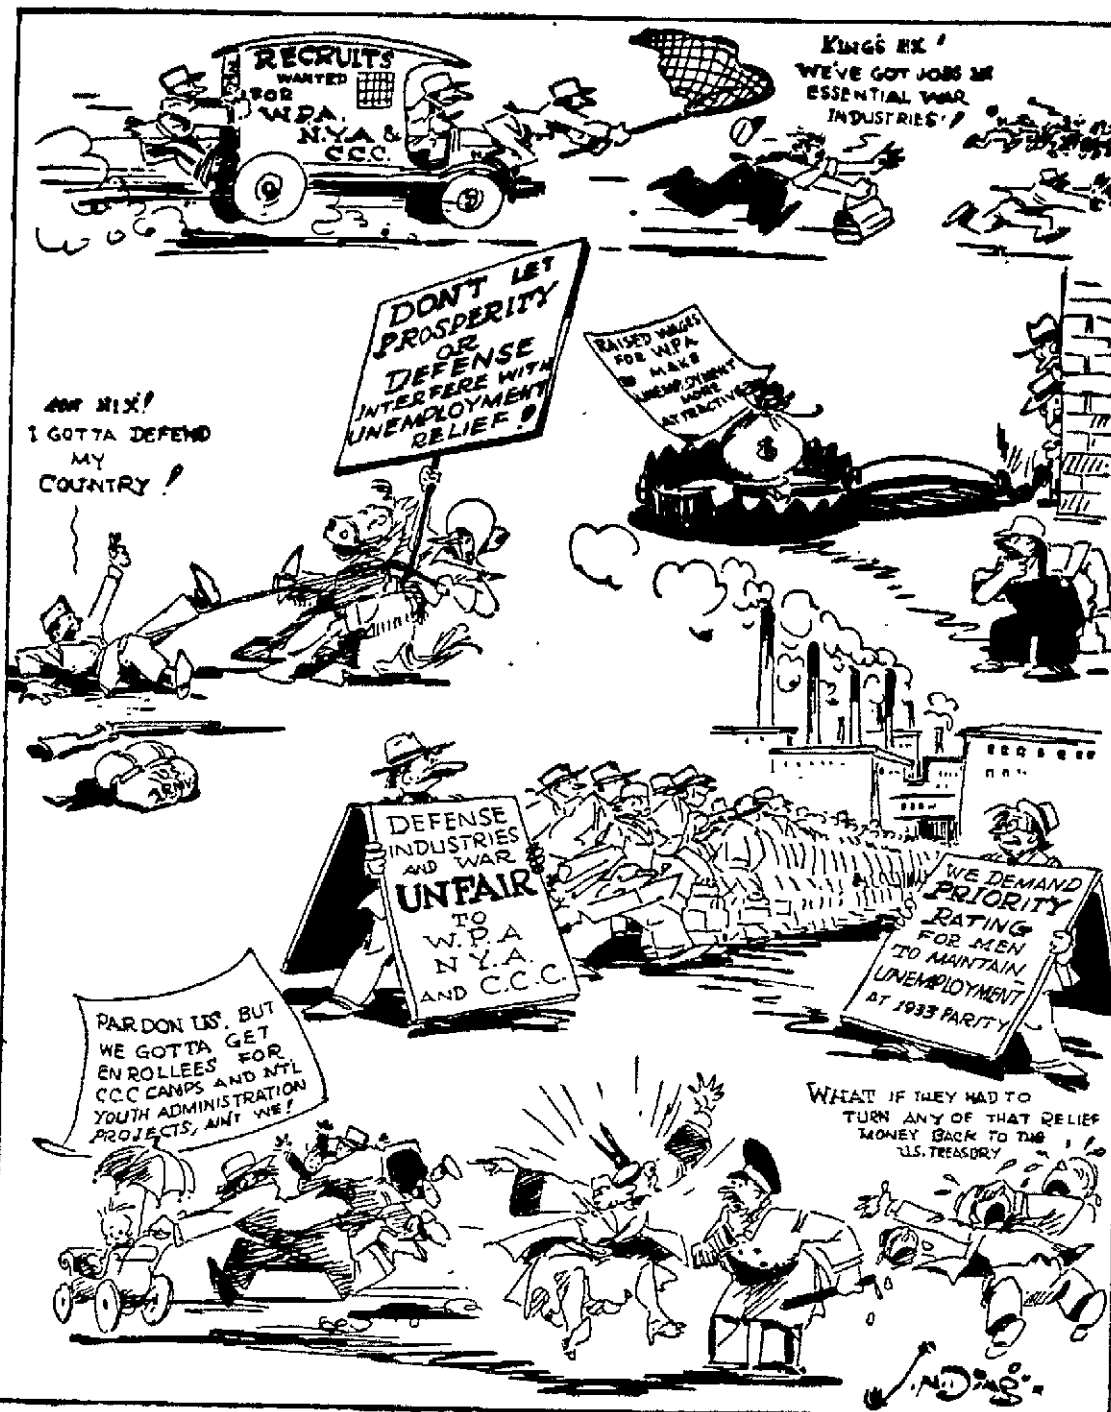

"I am now well out of politics and having the time of my life," says one John D. M. Hamilton, whose name has a familiar sound but cannot be immediately placed.

Word comes that Tommy Manville is engaged to Barbara Bannister, the ham heiress, who seems to think he's a good egg.

The question is now being asked: "Did F. D. R. mean that Russia has religious freedom on hand or on order?"

Urge Wage and Farm-Price Limits

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — Anyone who thinks that inflation — and unbridled inflation at that — can be prevented without freezing farm prices and wages should read one of two, preferably both, recent observations.

One of these was the testimony on Capitol Hill of Bernard M. Baruch. The other is a pamphlet issued by the Brookings Institution entitled "Effects of the Defense Program on Prices, Wages and Profits." The latter is by Dr. Meyer Jacobson and Dr. Harold G. Moulton. Dr. Moulton is head of the Brookings Institution.

They are interesting chiefly because they demonstrate, emphatically and without heat, that NOTHING the government is doing OR PROPOSES TO DO will prevent runaway prices, and partial destruction, through this cutting of the value of the dollar, of ALL savings accounts, life insurance, social insurance benefits—in fact all forms of savings which are measured in dollars and not in goods.

It hits the government bond and the stock under the mattress equally in proportion. It hits the very defense bonds the public is being told are a good investment.

Issued on the day Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau's proposal of a boost in the social security tax from 2 to 6 per cent was announced, the authors of the Brookings pamphlet could not have been meaning to hit it. But they did. One of the admitted reasons for this proposed tax boost was to cut private purchasing power as a partial check on inflation.

SAY Drs. Jacobson and Moulton: "The price advance cannot be directly attributed to the increases in mass purchasing power. If the general rise in prices had been due to competitive bidding by consumers possessed of increased incomes, one would expect to find retail prices increasing at least as much and as rapidly as the prices of manufactured products and raw materials. The facts show, however, that the increase in retail prices has been relatively small. The price rises began at the PRODUCING and

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY
Sunday, Oct. 16, 1921.

Dr. Charles F. Wishart, president of Wooster college, preached at First Presbyterian church.

Paul Kelley returned from Mt. Clemens, Mich., where he underwent appendicitis operation.

Herman U. Leedy, formerly of Mansfield schools, was chosen minister of music at Lowell, Mass. Methodist church.

Mrs. Valentine Christman, 72, died.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kovacs, 194 North Mulberry street.

Edward Nagle resigned as drum major of the Temple band.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Mrs. Eugene Smart was re-elected president of the Town and Country Garden club.

Mrs. Mary Ann Boyd, 76, former Mansfield resident, died at her home in Toledo.

Daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Walters, 72½ Wood street.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson, former Mansfield residents of Los Angeles, Calif., were in the city visiting Mr. and Mrs. Claude M. Hunter.

Preparations were being completed to begin paving West Second street.

not at the CONSUMING end.

"The facts clearly show that the active forces leading to price advances in the present situation have been operating on raw materials and manufactured products, gradually spreading from here to the retail end.

"The prevailing belief in government circles that price rises could not occur so long as there remained a large volume of unemployed labor and capital goes far toward explaining why no deep concern was manifested until fairly recently over the price question, and why the Office of Price Administration was not set up until the spring of 1941. Had the nature of the price inflation process been clearly perceived, steps would doubtless have been taken at a much earlier date to control the sources of price disturbance.

THE OFFICE of Price Administration has no authority over the farm price program and no authority over wages. . . . The price control bill now before congress does not provide for any control of wages, and control of farm prices cannot begin until 10 per cent of parity is reached.

Since, as this analysis has shown, the upward movement of prices is chiefly due to increases in the prices of agricultural products and in wage costs, it is obvious that the office of Price Administration has no effective control over the price system as a whole.

"Inflationary price rises," said President Roosevelt, "and increase in the cost of living are today threatening to undermine our defense effort. . . . Great profits are reaped by some, while others, with fixed and low incomes, find their living standards drastically reduced and their lifelong savings shrunken. . . . I am therefore recommending to the congress the adoption of measures to deal with this threat."

"The president correctly portrays the evil consequences of rising prices and the grave dangers," says the Brookings pamphlet. "But the methods embodied in the official price control bill do not meet the real issues."

Decide Something!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

EVER have a nervous breakdown? If so, you'll know, without my telling, that one of its cruellest symptoms is AN INABILITY TO MAKE DECISIONS.

What decisions? Any decisions . . . big or little . . . trivial or important. Shall you wear your red hat with your black suit . . . or the blue one with your gray? Have fruit or vegetable salad for lunch? Unimportant trifles, yet your inability to make a choice is doing things to you and your life . . . unhappy things.

Yesterday, probably, you were the deciding person on the block . . . choiceful of determination and go-getters. Today you wobble around like a dancing flea. You vacillate and hesitate . . . fuss and fidget . . . waver and wobble . . . become more bewildered with each false start. Presently you're just about as much spunk left as last week's batch of spaghetti. A ghastly condition to be sure! Completely demoralizing. But what can you do about it?

Psychologists and neurologists have long recognized these symptoms. realized their gravity. But never before have they had to deal with them in such mass formation. The thing is spreading . . . is fast becoming a form of national hysteria. From the obscure housewife in a prairie dig-out to the high-pressure boss in Washington, D. C., we're all jittery . . . running around in dizzy circles . . . getting nowhere fast. The reason's plain enough. Life's going too fast. We have to make too many changes . . . face too many new viewpoints. We're like a elastic that is stretched so often that the "gimp's" gone out of us. So what?

What'll you do when you can't decide anything? DECIDE SOMETHING! DECIDE SOMETHING NOW. AND, HAVING DECIDED SOMETHING, STICK TO IT—EVEN THOUGH YOU'RE SEIZED BY THE OLD DOUBTS.

Sounds silly, doesn't it? Yet it's the medicine for what ails you. Why have you "gone to pieces"? Because you're afraid. Life has become too unsettled, too insecure. Normal people can stand even profit by a certain amount of insecurity. It's good for them . . . jabs them out of their rut. But if there's too much of it, or if it lasts too long, their roots crack. They must have intervals of stability, times when they are sure of themselves and of their environment.

That's why DECISION is the cure for INDECISION. It doesn't need to be a big decision, a weighty or a startling one. To the contrary, it may involve very simple, humdrum matters. Its value lies in that very simplicity. Your weary, worried mind won't have to struggle with complicated consequences or possible failures. BUT BY DECIDING SOMETHING, HOWEVER SMALL, YOU WILL HAVE RE-ESTABLISHED YOUR OLD CONFIDENCE AND SELF-RESPECT. REGAINED SOME OF YOUR OLD SECURITY AND STARTED "KNOWING YOUR OWN MIND" AGAIN.

Decide something! Decide something now. Then keep on doing it! Don't let someone else do your thinking for you . . . or protect you against possible blunders. How did H. G. Wells put it? "To steer is heaven . . . to drift is hell!" Get out of that hell!

TODAY IN HISTORY
John Brown and his followers made their raid on Harper's Ferry, Va., on Oct. 16, 1859. Purpose of the raid was to incite a slave riot in Virginia. On Dec. 2 of the same year, Brown was hanged.

Daily Bible Thought
And they were offended in him. But Jesus said unto them, A prophet is not without honor, save in his own country, and in his own house. And he did not many mighty works there because of their unbelief.—Matt. 13:57, 58.

U. S. Finally Sends Rail Experts To Bolster Russia's Supply Line

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—The crumbling Russian front has caused some very cogent questions to be asked in high places regarding the efficiency of both the United States and the British.

Uppermost question is transportation, without which supplies cannot reach Russia.

Most desperate area in which Russia needs supplies is in the south. There the Hitler drive has progressed disastrously near the oil fields of the Caucasus. However, the only route to the Caucasus is via the Gulf of Persia to the port of Basra, thence by a shaky railroad through Iran to South Russia. This railroad is in such bad shape almost no supplies of any consequence can be transported.

To bolster it, American railway experts are being sent to Basra. However, the stark tragedy—completely unexplained—is why the British did not begin long ago to whip this road into shape. The Russian war has been in progress for three months. The British knew even last June that this route would be all-important. Two or three thousand men could have revamped the railroad in quick time. But nothing was done.

Meanwhile the French and Germans have been working feverishly to build a railroad from Casablanca, in Morocco, to Dakar, the French naval base opposite Brazil. And in about the same length of time, they have almost finished it. But in Iran the British did nothing.

300 U. S. Locomotives.

MEANWHILE, also, the Nazis feverishly have been relaying one rail in all the Russian railroads. This is because the Russians built their tracks the widest in the world to prevent an invading nation from using their railroads. However, Hitler has had labor gangs relaying the rail line so rapidly that today narrower gauge Nazi trains go right up to the battle front.

This is the secret of Hitler's amazing transportation feat, by which 400,000 men have been supplied with an average of four tons of supplies per man—shells, artillery, food, clothing, tanks, gasoline—all hauled over 1,000 miles to a battlefield 3,000 miles wide.

Yet only in the past few days is an American railroad mission being sent to the Gulf of Persia.

There are two other routes to get supplies into Russia. One, by way of Vladivostok, means a two-week rail haul over the Trans-Siberian.

To strengthen this road, the United States will send 300 locomotives. However, we haven't yet found the ships to carry them, since locomotives are too big to be lowered down the average ship's hatch. But even more important we have to revamp the locomotives, perhaps even manufacture them altogether, for our locomotives don't fit the wide Russian gauge.

Meanwhile, most U. S. supplies are going via Archangel which has turned out to be better than expected, but the Nazis are pretty sure to begin bombing it.

FDR Speeds Supplies.

WHILE the British have been inexcusably slow in regard to transport, both Britain and the United States have been equally slow in allocating supplies to be shipped. For weeks after Churchill and Roosevelt decided to send a mission to Moscow, the two governments backed and filled as to who should be in the delegation, and whether China should be involved. Meanwhile precious weeks, vital to Russia's chances, were lost.

HOBBY Note: Leonard Warren, the baritone, builds miniature trains to scale. He manufactures all his own equipment and has turned his Gotham hotel apartment into a veritable round house.

As most people know, Jascha Heifetz is one of the world's best table tennis players. He is also a yachtsman, as is John Charles, "The Masquerader."

Lauritz Melchior, the mighty Siegfried of the Met, collects guns. He's a pig hunter. He also has shot a bison in North Dakota.

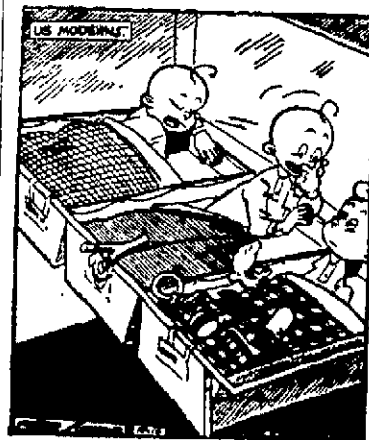

The trend with musical and theatrical people nowadays seems to be rural. Lanny Ross, Glenn Miller, Harry Carey, Glenn Kaufman and almost everybody else own farms. . . . Tito Schipcho owns a chicken ranch.

F. van Wyke Mason is justly proud of a collection of early American guns, chiefly of the Revolutionary period. He displays them in the gunroom of his home in Baltimore.

I am told that Margaret Speaks plants trees for a diversion. . . . She is said to have more than 30 varieties on her property in the country.

Sammy Kaye and Skinny Ennis stick pretty close to golf. Their hobbies hover pretty close to their own golf scores that touch the lower seventies.

"Move over . . . Junior had onions for supper!"

A Farmer's Diary

Matter of Viewpoint

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

"WHEN I get married," declares the farmer's sixteen-year-old daughter, "my home will be a beautiful, dainty place, where everyone who comes will want to stay. I'm going to dress my children, always, in clean, starched gingham and make them keep all the buttons fastened. My dinner table will be noted for its hospitality—if anyone drops in, I'll just put on an extra plate. I'm going to use bright checked breakfast cloths and pretty napkin rings and the best silver every day."

Then, with a last long look into the mirror, she is off to school. "When my children are grown," murmurs the busy mother, "perhaps I'll find time for the things I've always wanted to do. I hope I can join a club and have a flower garden and read all the new books and crochet a bedspread like Mrs. Coolidge did. I hope I can sleep until I feel like getting up every morning."

Then, with adept hands, she thrusts a pie into the oven, polishes the piano and wipes the dust from the window sill. She waters the flowers and frowns at the ink the baby has spilled, even while she smiles at a glimpse of three small pink sleeping garments in a row. She answers the phone, keeping an eye all the time upon the yard where the children are at play. If the pie cooks over and the smallest youngster comes in at the same instant howling that he has stepped on a nail, she is not nonplussed. She merely reaches for the oven door with one hand and the youngster with the other. . . .

"THE time to enjoy your children is while they're little," says grandmother. "They grow up so fast! It seems like yesterday that Bud and Kit were toddlers, and their father was still alive. I didn't know it then, but 'twas the happiest time of my life. It's wonderful to be necessary to someone."

"My neighbor leaves her children with me sometimes, for an hour or two. If I wasn't for that, my cookies would get stale every day. I—used to bake a fresh batch every other day!"

"And you, dear?" to Miss Sixteen—come and stay over night with me, sometimes, if you can. The sight of a pretty young face like yours does me good. It'll be no trouble at all—I'll just put on an extra plate."

"Yes, it's a bit lonesome for an old person sometimes—but it's kind of fun, too," she adds, with a twinkle in her eye. "Old folks know so much more than young folks give 'em credit for. We live our own lives over again with every new generation."

WANTS 'WHEELERS OF WORLD' TO FIGHT AGAINST ISOLATION

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND—Elmer (I don't like Burton K.) Wheeler says he has been invited back to Billings, Mont.

He is the sales consultant, author, lecturer and president of Tested Selling Institute, New York and Dallas, who lives at Sizzle ranch, and proposes to organize a "Wheeler of the World" club in opposition to the isolationist stand of Burton K. Wheeler, the Democratic senator from Montana.

"I tell you we Wheelers are tired of the senator's sentiments," he declared. "We are ashamed of Burton K., and intend to revive the memory of fighting Joe Wheeler, the youngest brigadier in the Confederate army, who also was a general in the Spanish-American war.

"I am having membership cards printed, and any Wheeler who wants to join can write me at Sizzle ranch, Dallas.

"The aim of the club is to raise money from Wheelers to buy a bomber for Britain and call it the Fighting Joe Wheeler. We would like to have Burton K. printed on each of the bombs," he continued.

In Washington last night, Senator Wheeler was asked for comment and replied "it's so cheap that it isn't worthy of notice."

The club organizer said he had received telegrams inviting him to speak in Montana and in North Dakota, home of the Republican Senator Gerald P. Nye.

He left for his engagement in Lorain, O., without saying what invitations he would accept. He was in Cleveland to address a convention of Clover Farm Stores corporation.

Relieved of Suffering
Mr. Given Kesler, R. F. D. 9, Hillsboro, Ohio (photo appears at right) said: "I had cramps and pains in my back prostate troubles, urinating too much. My muscles and joints were so sore sometimes that I could hardly get around. Bladder and prostate trouble caused too frequent urination thereby causing loss of sleep and rest. After taking the first bottle of BEE-BEES, I began to show improvement. I wish to say I recommend BEE-BEES for Prostate, Kidney and Bladder troubles."

AAA INCREASES QUOTA ON CORN BY 171 ACRES

County Farmers Can Plant
26,985 Acres, Still Get Government Checks.

An increase of 171 acres in Richland county's 1942 corn crop has been authorized by the department of agriculture under the AAA farm program. Guy L. Taylor, county AAA chairman, said today.

With the increase, county farmers participating in the government crop program can plant a total of 26,985 acres in corn next year and still qualify for their government checks.

The 1942 wheat crop, most of which has already been seeded, is expected to be slightly below this year's crop in total acreage. The AAA quota was 24,698 acres for wheat, a reduction of 11.5 per cent from this year's acreage.

Crop figures released by the state AAA office showed that Richland county's corn yield has averaged 43.3 bushels per acre for the past 10 years, placing it a little higher than the state average.

Only Crawford county of the counties in this area exceeded the Richland county yield. Crawford county farmers harvest an average of 44.8 bushels per acre. Other yields include 41.8 bushels for Ashland county, 41.8 for Huron county and 41.3 for Morrow county.

Highest yield in the state was 49.2 bushels per acre in Preble, Fairfield and Green counties. Lowest reported was 30.5 bushels in Brown county.

Devise New Type X-ray Unit For Battlefield Use

KANSAS CITY—(INS)—In an effort to decrease battle tolls, medical science has taken another stride forward in perfecting a new type X-ray unit which may be taken into the field, thus permitting treatment of wounded men as quickly as they can be brought to the machine.

A 20-second, automatic operation is said to disclose the position and depth of shrapnel, bullets and other foreign matter in the body, thus making accurate emergency operation possible.

Although the army had a mobile X-ray unit during the last war, its use was restricted mostly to the hospital, whereas this first portable machine may be dismantled in about six minutes and carried by two men to the wounded soldier.

According to E. M. Greb, manager of a Kansas City company displaying the instrument, the unit is made by the Picker Corporation of Cleveland which has a government order for 650 such machines. The apparatus, which costs $1,250,000 each, is also adaptable to hospital use.

Operating on a process of triangulation, it uses either household or field generator current and produces a 10,000-volt current. The X-ray is capable of penetrating any ordinary human body, and is the first able to be operated for an indefinite length of time without overheating.

RECEIVE PEARS

NEWFANE, N. Y.—(AP)—The Federal government has contributed to a new form of "carrying coals to Newcastle."

At a cost of approximately $500, federal welfare officials sent a carload of luscious Oregon pears to relief clients here in the heart of the Niagara county fruit belt. Residents agree the Oregon pears are a choice fruit, but insist that "our pears are pretty much all right too."

RIGHT AT HOME
BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—(AP)—Moving day for the McMillan family took about a week—but the McMillans were right at home in their new location. Forced to move their home a quarter of a mile from its original location, members of the family went about their regular tasks during the day, only stopping to anchor the house for the night.

Rice Has Become Luxury In China Missionary Says

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—(INS)—China's own dish, rice, now costs $88 a bushel and has changed from the ordinary, run-of-the-mine food to a comparative luxury.

This was the word received here by Mr. and Mrs. Claude Vaught, parents of the Rev. and Mrs. Arnold Vaught. The Rev. Vaught and his wife are now stationed in the Friends Mission in Chungking, China.

Prior to the war, the rice per bushel was between $2.50 and $3.00. Now the price is $88 per bushel and has been as high as $110 a bushel.

This inflationary condition works extreme hardships upon the native population because wage increases have not gone on the upswing with the living cost. "Many people here tell us they can not make ends meet," the minister said in the letter to his parents.

The Rev. Mr. Vaught had been in Changkung long before it became the provisional capital of General Chiang Kai-Shek's government. At present he is directing relief for Free China through the Church Committee for Relief of China.

STICKUP? WELL, HARDLY
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.—(AP)—The thug who jumped on the running board of Mrs. Natalia Lewis' car and ordered her to "move over—this is a stickup," reckoned without her quick temperament. "I just smacked him in the face with my fist and gurned the car—and he hit the road with a thud," she told police in reporting the thwarted robbery.

AUTO INDUSTRY LOOKS AHEAD

Foresees Improved Motor Cars as the Result of Work For Defense.

(Special News Service)
DETROIT—The automobile manufacturer is a long-range planner—he has to be by the very nature of his business—and while his No. 1 job right now is armament-making, he is looking ahead to the day when the resumption of normal pursuits replace the manufacture of guns, tanks and bomber parts.

The motorcar industry is turning the greatest mass production technique the world ever has known to the task of producing war material in what one prominent automobile company official has termed "terrifying volume." Once the need for extraordinary armament production has passed, this same technique, undoubtedly much the better for the lessons learned in defense tasks, will be turned back to passenger car and commercial vehicle manufacture.

The men who make motorcars have no better idea than the average man in the street as to how long car and truck production will be subordinated to the defense effort. Informally some have guessed that it may be for five years; others have ventured seven years and some have even admitted a feeling that armament production on a larger scale than heretofore will continue for a generation.

Not a single automobile maker has voiced objection to the curtailment program outlined for passenger car and light commercial vehicle production. Many of the restrictions on normal activities within the industry, as a matter of fact, are the result of voluntary action on the part of the car manufacturers.

All are agreed that with the production curtailment indicated there will be a goodly volume of unsatisfied demand during the next several years.

And by the time new models once again become a regular annual affair, the engineers, borrowing from their experience in the production of aircraft motors and other war machines expect to produce a car that will have all the refinements that could have been expected had there been no defense emergency.

Outstanding, they intimate, will be a vehicle that can be operated much more economically than today's car. Besides engine refinement there will come, the engineers assert confidently, a higher

Easy Pleasant Way TO LOSE FAT

How would you like to lose ten or more pounds in a month and at the same time feel better perhaps than you have for years?

How would you like to lose your double chin and your too-prominent hips and at the same time feel more youthful and be more attractive?

How would you like to get your weight down to normal and at the same time develop that urge for activity that makes work a pleasure?

Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh. Then get a bottle of Kruschen Salts which will last 4 weeks and is inexpensive—take one-half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on white bread, potatoes, butter and cream. When you have finished this first bottle, weigh yourself again.

Start today girls to get a more graceful, charming, slender figure. Leading druggists all over America sell Kruschen Salts (a famous English formula)—plain or new effervescent—pleasant, sparkling.

You can always get it at any druggist. Try one bottle—if not supremely satisfied money back.

RICHLAND FARMERS TO HEAR OF 'FOOD-FOR-DEFENSE' PLAN

Richland county farmers who will be asked to join on the nation's "food-for-defense" program will hear the objectives of the program outlined at a meeting Friday at the American Legion home on Park avenue west.

Invited to attend the meeting were the township AAA committeemen, Farm Security administration clients, and farmers who are co-operating with the CCC camps in their soil conservation program.

The session will get under way at 9:30 a. m. and continue until about 3:30 in the afternoon, according to Guy L. Taylor, chairman of the county defense committee.

The defense committee, made up of county farm leaders, will conduct the sessions, explaining the program to the group and the methods farmers will use in stepping up their production of meat, eggs, milk and vegetables to provide more supplies for England.

Tentative quotas for the county call for increases of 17 per cent in potato production next year, 15 per cent in pork, seven per cent in milk and four per cent in eggs.

Detailed information about the program for increased food production will be taken to county farmers later by the township AAA committeemen who attend Friday's meeting and at farm organization sessions this fall and winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Dixon and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Barr visited Sunday with friends in Marion.

Mrs. A. C. Ullman returned to her home at Santa Monica, Calif. after spending the past month here with relatives.

octave gasoline than at present is available.

But the speed with which automobile factories converted to armament manufacture can be returned to automobile production, they emphasize, will depend almost wholly upon their ability to maintain at least a skeleton automotive engineering program throughout the emergency.

ENLISTS AID

Artists Donate Posters To Aid Fealty For U. S.

NEW YORK—(AP)—A group of men headed by Prof. Paul H. Douglas of the University of Chicago have enlisted the services of noted artists and illustrators in a campaign to spur appreciation of the beauties and benefits of the United States.

The campaign had its inception in a remark by a Washington official that Axis posters all seemed to laud the warlike qualities of the countries involved. This official felt Americans ought to concentrate on the less grim aspects of life.

Accordingly Prof. Douglas and other members of Appreciate America Inc. had artists like James Montgomery Flagg, Bradshaw Crandall, Howard Chandler Christy and Adolph Tuedler donate posters along with cartoonists Ham Fisher, George McManus, Roy Crane and Harold Gray. The posters will be turned over to defense agencies and government departments for distribution. The general theme of the posters is to "promote a love of our country through an appreciation of its advantages."

GEN. JOHNSON: Three Runaway Youths Confess Slaying

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON — Never forget one thing in guessing about the news from Russia. The Nazis are not kidding when they say that their principal military objective is not the capture of great cities. It is the destruction of the Russian military power on their eastern front.

Johnson

There was a time when wars were fought by minute fractions of populations and when the principal object of war was to capture the enemy's capital city. Campaigns moved on an axis between great cities, and small professional armies, like fencers on a gymnasium mat, parried and thrust in maneuver in wars of movement to open the way to their adversaries' citadel.

This doctrine plagued us during the Civil war—which, in the east, was largely a campaign to capture either Richmond or Washington. Many students think that it degenerated on the federal side to a belief by Secretary Stanton that the whole object of the confederacy was to capture him and that his interference with McClellan's peninsular campaign prolonged the war two years.

There is no doubt that when Marshal Bazaine shut himself and his army up in Metz in the Franco-Prussian war and the Germans simply bottled him up and bypassed him, he sealed the fate of the second empire. When the first World war began, for some unexplained reason, the Germans didn't apply their own formula and bypass Verdun. They battered themselves out against it.

In Russia they are not doing that. They have bottled up and by-passed Leningrad and Odessa. It wouldn't be surprising if they didn't waste too much blood trying to take Moscow. The whole question is: "What are they doing to the Russian forces in the field?"

This is not as yet certain but, in spite of the confusion in the welter of conflicting reports, the conclusion is far from favorable from our point of view.

In the older days, brave and protracted defense of besieged cities had much more meaning than it has today. It spiked to the ground and immobilized an equal or greater force of the besiegers and rendered them unavailable to hasten a decision in the open field. But that was when armies were relatively very small and available military equipment was scant.

There is still some value in this principle, but with modern mass armies and such superiority as the Germans have in equipment, training, generalship, and staff-work, it is not nearly so important as once it was. It seems to me that the things to watch are not whether Moscow, or Leningrad or Odessa fall, but what happens to the Russian armies and lines of rail and other communications.

There is a fearful thought here. Considering that long line of 700 odd miles from Leningrad to the Black Sea or 1300 miles from the White Sea south over which Hitler must now scatter his resources on land and in the air, if he were relieved of even half that responsibility to turn those stupendous forces in another direction and concentrate them on a small fraction of that front, we should have an entirely different aspect of this war.

It seems to me that we should consider this possibility and wait, watch and listen before we spread ourselves too thin in eastern Europe and western Asia. The crisis may suddenly appear in the British Isles. If it does, it will need every ounce of effort that we can make. Furthermore we do not know what we ourselves may have to face in the Pacific tomorrow. Our business is to defend America.

AFL CONCLUDES CONFAB AFTER BROWNE OUSTER

Green Re-elected President Without Opposition, Meet In Toronto In 1942.

(By United Press) SEATTLE, Wash. — The American Federation of Labor prepared today to wind up its annual convention after ousting George E. Browne, alleged extortionist from the executive council and urging removal of all racketeering officials.

Only major resolution remaining for discussion was the executive council's recommendation that the federation approve aid to the Soviet Union as urgent and expedient but without any pretense that the United States and Russia are or ever can be friends.

The federation elected without opposition President William Green for his 18th term and 12 other vice presidents, and chose Toronto for its next convention after Boston and Minneapolis with drew their bids.

The convention last week reduced the number of vice presidents from 15 to 13 intending to remove Browne painlessly by failing to renominate him but delegates of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees, of which he is president, offered him as a candidate against another vice president, Edward Flore of Buffalo, N. Y.

Only the IATSE delegates and George W. Brayfield, a member of the IATSE but a delegate from the Colorado State Federation of Labor, voted for Browne. The count was 37,944 for Flore; 421 for Browne.

Browne is on trial in New York charged with extorting $550,000 from motion picture producers on threat of business-destriving strikes.

Immediately preceding the election, the convention approved an executive council report which, although reiterating the parent organization's inability to dictate policy to member unions, urged them to amend their constitution if necessary to oust "criminals and racketeers." It ordered all central labor councils directly under its control to get rid of any delegates convicted of "serious wrongdoing which reflects dishonor on the trade union movement."

VICTORY DINNER

C. of C. Marks End of Member Drive at Dinner Tonight.

Approximately 70 persons are expected to attend the victory dinner of the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce today at 7 p. m. at the Mansfield-Leland hotel to celebrate the success of the annual membership drive which concluded Friday night.

John G. Routzon, secretary-manager, announced that the clean-up for the drive has brought the membership well over 700, the chamber's highest record, and that a final report would be made at tonight's meeting.

George W. Stephens, honorary chairman; Robert C. Remy, president; E. C. Geiger, chairman of the membership committee; and Charles L. Kaser, campaign chairman, will be in charge of arrangements for the dinner.

Routzon said that no special program has been arranged but that the campaign managers and chamber officials will probably be called upon for short talks.

PROBE CELINA DRAFT RECORDS

State Orders Review of Classifications After 3-Day Examination.

(By United Press) COLUMBUS—Lieut. Col. C. W. Goble, state selective service director, said today that the classifications of "approximately 75 or 80 Mercer county men would be reviewed by the Mercer county board as a result of a three-day examination of the board's record of classifications.

Goble said that "a routine check" of the Celina board's session last week on the basis of charges that "an unusually large number" of registrants had received occupational deferments. He said that 268 residents of Mercer county, or about 8 per cent of the county's 3,187 registrants, had been deferred for occupational reasons.

"The fact that these cases will be reviewed by the local board does not necessarily mean that the men will be reclassified," he said. "It is entirely probable that the men were classified correctly the first time."

The state selective service director admitted that 8 per cent of a board's registrants was "a considerable number to be placed in Class 2," but said he believed all those given deferred classifications were entitled to them.

"Of course," he added, "it is possible that circumstances have changed since the men were classified and that all of the 75 or 80 up for review are no longer vital to industry."

'COMPANY HOUSE' GIVEN BY MASQUE

Speech Group Presents One-Act Play at Student Assembly.

Mansfield Senior high school Masque and Gavel club presented a one-act play entitled "Company House" yesterday at a student assembly.

G. P. Van Arman, faculty advisor for the club, directed the play. Anne Wilson acted as mistress of ceremonies and introduced Joan Herring, Nancy Leonard, William Deitrichson, Edward Fisher, Jeanne Worley and Ronald Kerr, who presented readings and dramatic sketches.

PREDICT HIKE IN AAA BENEFIT PAYMENTS TO FARMERS IN 1942

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON — Agriculture department officials said today it was probable that benefit payment rates to be offered farmers for co-operation with the 1942 wheat crop control program would be about 5 cents being paid under the 1941 program.

The 1941 rates total 18 cents a bushel, including a soil conservation rate of 8 cents and a parity payment rate of 10 cents.

Farmers who co-operated with the 1941 wheat program by planting within their AAA wheat acreage allotment have received or will receive checks in the amount of 18 cents times the normal yield of their acreage allotment. For example, a farmer with a 100-acre allotment and a normal yield of 10 bushels per acre would receive 1,800 times 18 cents, or $324.

Officials said that under the 1942 program, wheat farmers probably would receive benefit payments amounting to the difference between the present government wheat loan rate—which averages 98 cents a bushel—and the "parity" price of the grain, which on Sept. 15 was $1.21 cents a bushel.

Thus, the benefit payments would amount to 23 cents a bushel, or 5 cents more than under this year's program. The soil conservation rate, officials said, probably would be 10 cents a bushel and the parity rate 13 cents.

Officials said it would be possible to pay wheat farmers larger rates next year while at the same time reducing total congressional appropriations for agricultural payments. Prices of cotton, for example, have advanced to parity levels, thereby probably removing this crop from eligibility for parity payments. On cotton alone this would mean a saving of $88,000,000.

The five-cent increase in wheat benefit payment rates would not be clear gain for farmers. They would receive such rates on about 12 per cent less wheat because their 1942 acreage allotments have been reduced by about that percentage. The 1942 wheat allotment totals 55,000,000 acres compared with 62,500,000 this year. Next year's allotment was reduced because of the large surplus now on hand.

TELL POLICE BOY, 16, SHOT CONTRACTOR

Trio Arrested in Maine After Relative Suspected They Had Stolen Auto.

(By United Press) PORTLAND, Me. — A runaway boy and two runaway girls confessed today to slaying of an Alexandria, Va., contractor, whose body, they said, was hidden in bushes near the Maryland-Pennsylvania state line.

Assistant County Attorney Richard Chapman said the slaying apparently occurred Monday but that the victim's body had not been recovered yet. He said the boy and girls identified the victim as "Mr. Browning."

The suspects, held at a police station here pending investigation in Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia, were described as a boy of 16 and two girls, 14 and 15.

Chapman said they told him that the boy fired a .25 caliber pistol at the victim when he made advances to the 14-year-old girl while the three were stopped by the roadside.

The children were arrested last night after a relative here suspected that they had a stolen auto. Police said the boy led them to a wooded road in nearby Falmouth where a bloodstained car was found.

They said they left their homes in Alexandria Sunday and induced Browning to drive them to the home of relatives here. They halted outside Baltimore, Md., to rest and the slaying apparently occurred there.

"They told me," Chapman said, "that they are stunned when the man fell. I haven't yet found out how many shots were fired but the boy told me that it was done on the spur of the moment. He said he was infuriated by the actions of the man, who he described as middle-aged."

"As near as I can find out they pushed the victim's body into his own car and drove along the highway about 10 miles, and finally hid it in the bushes."

Chapman said the three continued their journey and arrived here Monday night. They stayed with a relative of one of the girls, and it was not until yesterday that the relative became suspicious of ownership of the auto.

Legislators Get Fees After Court Dismisses Suit

COLUMBUS —(P) — Senate and house clerks prepared today to mail $40,174.80 in mileage allowance checks to state legislators after the Ohio supreme court dismissed a suit testing constitutionality of the payments.

The court, by a five to two decision, held that no debatable constitutional question was involved and dismissed the action brought by the late Arnett Hargrave, West Jefferson farmer, contending that legislators were entitled only to their $2,000 a year salary.

Franklin county common pleas and appellate courts previously ruled that five cents a mile to and from home once a week was a valid allowance to legislators.

The supreme court dismissed the appeal of the state building and loan superintendent from Tuscarawas county decisions giving the Citizens Building & Loan company of Uhrichsville and the Citizens Savings and Loan company of Denison authority to reorganize as real estate and mortgage companies.

The court also refused to review the appeal of Wayne L. Smith, former Licking county deputy sheriff, from his conviction of embezzling $3,963 in public funds.

CHAPTER XXVIII

When Martin Deale made up his mind to propose to Lillian, he went into the privacy of his room and read an hour from his favored poets, and although his mind kept slipping back to material thoughts, he did create what he felt was the proper mood. Martin worked a great deal on moods. They had to be right before he could go much with his painting, his reading, or even his exercise. In his room now he even wrote down the reasons why Lillian should marry him. He listed her needs and her family's needs and what he sincerely believed to be his own good traits. Then, inevitably, a sense of fairness stirred, so that he decided to list his bad points as well. He was almost childish about it, but the introspective young man saw it not as something trivial or amusing, but as a deadly serious enterprise.

All at once, then a forgotten fact assailed him. He was under technical arrest, out on bond! He faced a felony charge. His case would soon come up in court. Obviously that disturbing disconcerting fact offset all of his assets which he might muster.

"I cannot ask her now," he reminded himself grimly. "I must wait until I am freed. If—if I am!"

Black despair gripped him. His own lawyer had told him that his only course was to plead guilty and beg for leniency of the court. Defensively, he hadn't a leg on which to stand. There could be a severe fine, a penitentiary sentence, or both. Martin looked again at his calendar, a thing which he had begun to haunt him of late.

At 12:15 p. m. Sunday Dal and it was he again who discovered the phenomenon on the Mayfield lawn.

"I'm starved again," said he. "Nora will give us lunch."

"A thousand thanks, but—I'd better eat downtown."

"Please, Dal. It has been such a lovely morning."

"It is that! But I'm still the jinx boy. I mean, I'm afraid to go to your house, really. Things happen, you know what I mean. Anyhow I'm scared to push my luck too far. You've been your old self today. Happy and vivacious as you were at first, and actually friendly again!"

His very phrasing of it seemed tragically, to break the spell.

Lillian's manner changed. It was as if the play was over and she had to go from the theater into a cold rainy street again. They rode in silence for a block or two and their horses were content now to move at an easy walk. Dal glanced at her again, and again. The droop of unhappiness was unmistakable there once more.

He tried valiantly to ignore it, thinking she would respond if he kept up the high spirits. And she did try to respond. Tried so obviously that it became artificial. When they had turned up from the depot and were nearing North Marshall street again both were talking in that forced politeness which had characterized them downtown of late. It wasn't a thing to see or tie to in any way, it was simply a restraint, evanescent but strong. Lillian's lips were a little taut. In truth, she wanted to cry. However could she explain to Dal Tower that this was a stolen morning, and that Thad Monroe would expect her happy company all afternoon and have a right to?

Dal was looking straight ahead and it was he again who discovered the phenomenon on the Mayfield lawn.

"Judas pete, Lillian!" he suddenly murmured. "I—look up yonder!"

A crowd, several hundred people again, was on and around the Mayfield property. Dal resumed speaking. "See, whenever I'm with you, things happen! And there's a mass meeting on your lawn every few days lately!"

Lillian was excited all right. It did indeed appear to be a mass meeting, but this one seemed orderly. Coming closer now, they could even hear laughter. Men and boys sat on fences in attitudes of ease and amusement. Some sort of show was in progress, but what? The two riders dismounted half a block away, dismounted their reins and hastened up on foot.

"It's Jason!" Lillian murmured. "And some other colored men, Dal."

They pushed across the Halton lawn and into Lillian's own side yard and immediately saw Mrs. Mayfield and Baby Doll on the porch. Mrs. Mayfield was frowning worriedly.

"Oh Lillian!" she began. "Are you all right? We have just come from church and found this."

"Of course, mother. Whatever is—?"

"Nothing, dear. Nothing bad I mean. It's Jason. The poor soul is trying to do a kindness and those 'orrid people have come to stare at him. He—"

"But what, mother? What kindness?"

"He's washing and painting the derelict—for me!"

"Mother!"

"Yes, it's—it's touching, really. Jason is a simple old soul, dear, and we mustn't hurt him

"Mrs. Mayfield and her girls are honored, Jason," said Dal, kindly. "It's those grinning spectators down front that cause concern."

"Yes, suh. I goes and 'splains to them, now."

The thing was at once ridiculous and touching. Baby blue, on a steel derrick! One could hardly blame the townfolk for gathering to watch. Already everyone knew that excitement had occurred often on the Mayfield lawn, and only the slightest hint of news was sufficient to draw a throng again.

Here at noontime, therefore, oil workers and other citizens were watching in high jinks. Cars and pedestrians kept arriving. As for the negro workmen, they attended strictly to business with a certain grim determination. Mr. Jason Weems had commanded them and in his stratum of society his orders were law.

"You takes a bit wet rag and soap and washes all that grease off'n them pipes," he had ordered three men. And to the others—"You boys washes down that derrick so's paint'll stick onto it. Dry it good, mind you. Then you takes that paint and gits it on. Ain't no need in taking all day 'bout it, neither."

When Jason said he would "splain" to the gathered spectators, Dal and the Mayfields assumed he meant to tell only what his workers were doing. But that wasn't the thing on Jason's mind at all. Dal walked with Lillian behind the old derrick as he hobbled down the lawn again.

"Yonder's Martin!" Lillian whispered.

"Unh huhn!" Dal grunted. "I told you! My cue is to leave."

"Don't be silly. He's with Thad—look, they see us! Thad's coming over . . . No, don't go, Dal. Don't be like that!"

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

At my exclamation, Miss Whitlock raised her eyes from the hem of Lillian's quilted robe into which she was stitching the original of the queer letter from Marion, a copy of which I had studying.

"You've found something?" she queried as her eyes met mine, for in my joyous relief I had looked over at her in sheer exuberant hunger for some human being who would share my happiness.

"Indeed I have," I told her. "I've found the proof that Marion is not going to be married, and that she was forced to write this letter."

"First statement couldn't be better; the second, not so good," she commented.

"I know it," I said, "but I know that Mrs. Underwood will infinitely prefer that to the alternative of having that marriage announcement prove to be the truth."

Enlightens Nurse.

"Of course," she said. "I am so glad that you have been able to get at the truth."

Her eyes looked the question which her professional training would not let her put to me, and I promptly answered their appeal. "I wish I had time to tell you all about this," I said. "I will later. But Mary Veritzen and Marion compiled a childish code years ago, which Marion is using now. We can't get everything from it, but we are receiving valuable clues."

"Thank you for telling me," she said, rising, "but you mustn't waste any more time on me. Now I wish you would look at this robe, and see whether the work meets your approval. Have you time?"

"Of course," I said. "That is paramount to everything else. Until we have a chance to work on, her so that she will produce the letter of her own free will, she must be kept in ignorance of the fact that I abstracted the letter and have copied it. But this is marvelous!"

Nurse Does a Perfect Job.

"I was looking with close attention and genuine admiration at the completed stitching with which the long, slender, ruler-like package had been sewed back into the hem where Lillian first had hidden it."

"This stitching is so like hers that I cannot tell where yours begins and hers leaves off," I said.

"I can," Miss Whitlock said with a wry little grin.

"That may be," I told her, "but I will wager a good deal that Mrs. Underwood will never detect the substitution, and after all that is what counts."

"You think it's safe to put it back over the foot of her bed, then?" she asked.

"Absolutely," I answered. "But be sure to clear away all evidence of your work. Leave only one threaded needle, the one she originally left, and put the others back into their cases."

I caught myself up with a rueful half laugh.

"What nonsense this is!" I said, "for me to be giving you such trivial instructions as these. You probably have attended to everything already."

"On the contrary," she said tactfully. "I have attended to nothing. I just finished the stitching of the hem, and I am very glad of the instructions. This is an occasion which distinctly needs two heads, one checking the other."

Madge Is Relieved.

"I am greatly relieved, nevertheless," I told her, "as well as being extremely grateful. One problem is off my hands, and now, with your permission, I will return to the other."

"Granted," she said with a twinkling smile. Then, heartened by her sympathy and understanding, as well as by the aid she had just given me, I returned to Marion's letter.

"If you only could know Arthur!" Marion's letter went on. "He is such a swell egg! I know you couldn't help loving him the way I do."

"The wedding is too days after tomorrow," the bizarre letter went on. "That will be Saturday. I'm sorry I can't tell you now where it's going to be, but I'll bet you know as soon as I can. And I want you to get hold of Mary

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

DON'T BE A SQUANDERER

IT PAYS in the long run to be careful of your assets, risking them only when by doing so you stand to gain something commensurate with the risk. That is true in business, in the ordinary affairs of every department of life, and in all games. In bridge it applies with great force, to the matter of leading intermediate cards, which may therefore be sacrificed to higher ones, whereas holding them a while might result in their being promoted to trick takers. Even jacks, tens and nines may ultimately take tricks if they are played only at the right time.

At the other table, when the declarer led the heart 4 to the third trick, from dummy, East played low and West won with the K. A and a trump. The heart Q next lost to the A, and the spade 5 was led to the A. Declarer then led diamonds himself from the dummy, East playing low. So the declarer wound up losing a diamond trick, making barely his game instead of two extras as had been handed to the other South.

Tomorrow's Problem.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, October 17.
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

A fairly active and progressive day is read from the lunar transit. This in spite of erratic, surprising or irregular developments. Such may pertain to family, social or artistic contacts, calling for sound tactics and stability to circumvent loss and unhappiness. The best success should be found with public transactions, travel, agencies or publicity or writings. A close watch on sarcastic or caustic speech may prevent trouble.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a lively and progressive year, with all pertaining to writings, travel, publications and agencies enjoying accomplishment and financial increase. But peculiar, eccentric or sarcastic tendencies may precipitate some strange or peculiar adventures, probably where social, emotional or domestic stress and strain figure.

A child born on this day should have great versatility, resourcefulness and a scientific or intellectual ability making for financial success. Its home life may offer some antagonisms, perhaps due to its caustic speech.

LAND PLANES TO SPEED AIR TIME

Rapidly Supplanting Flying Boats on Routes Over Oceans.

(By Special Service) MIAMI, Fla.—Aeronautical engineers are about to boost the speeds of inter-continental airplanes to more than 250 miles an hour simply by junking obsolete flying boats.

In their place will be used new, swift planes which tuck their wings up into their wings and use regulation airports at their terminals.

The flying boats, developed in yesteryear for taking off and alighting in harbors, were big, cumbersome, slow and inefficient.

Pan-American Airways, which operates over the Pacific, the Atlantic and around South America, already has begun using so-called land planes on certain ocean routes.

While not as fast as the ships to come, they are beating the time of the flying boats they replaced.

The biggest flying boats still are in use on Atlantic and Pacific routes and, for lack of modern land plane types, will continue to cover these runs for months to come.

But, in a single year, 423 land plane and only 12 seaplane schedules have been put in effect southward from Miami—on routes carrying more than 75,000 passengers a year.

Juan T. Troupe, president of PAA, asserted recently that land planes would connect New York

NURSEMAIDS

WOODWARD, Okla.—Attendance at meetings of the local Kiwanis club has picked up since the club adopted a new method of keeping members from "playing hooky."

Any member missing a club and Lisbon non-stop sometime next year.

In preparation for the 250-mile-an-hour-plus schedules, Pan American joined Transcontinental and Western Air in a $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 order for 80 transports of an advanced model to be made by Lockheed Aircraft at Burbank, Calif.

These big land planes are reported capable, on advance calculations, of cruising at 285 miles an hour, with top speeds well above 300 miles an hour and a range of 5,000 miles.

meeting must care for the club mascot, a live rooster, until the next meeting.

"If you think it's any fun playing nursemaid to a rooster, just try it for a while," said Brandon Frost, club president.

From the Pillsbury bag—
Cranberry-Apple Pie
a delicious surprise!

Here's how to put holiday flavor in America's favorite pie:

1. Sift and measure 2 c. Enriched Pillsbury's Best flour; add ¼ tsp. baking powder (optional) and 1 tsp. salt. (The enrichment of Pillsbury's Best does not change its appearance, flavor or superb baking qualities, but gives two important vitamins and iron your family needs every day.) 2. Cut in 5 c. shortening until quite fine. Add 1 tsp. grated orange rind; mix well. 3. Add 1 to 2 Tbsp. cold orange juice gradually, until dough holds together. (You'll like this fresh fruit flavor in the pastry; it's different and delicious!) 4. Roll or flout in a time. 5. Roll in thick. Place in 9 in. pie pan. Trim edge. (Notice how easily your dough rolls, how soft it is, how tender. Three qualities you must have for crisp, flaky crust—three qualities you get when you use Pillsbury's Best.) 6. (Filling) Combine 4 Tbsp. Pillsbury's Best Flour, 1 c. sugar, dash of salt, add to 3 c. sliced apples and 1 c. halved cranberries. Blend well. 6. Roll pie out with 2 Tbsp. butter. 7. Roll out rest of pastry, cut into ½ in. strips, put crisscross on pie. Bake edge, fasten strips, seal. (And remember on pie. Bake edge, fasten strips, seal. (And don't, for one moment, doubt your results. Open your oven, slide in your pie. . . . know that your job's well done!) For Pillsbury's Best is baked—proved for your protection! Each hour during milking, samples of this superb flour are tested to assure a soft, creamy whiteness, a baking quality you can really count on—no matter what you bake. Moreover, actual baking tests are made four to six times daily! 8. Bake in hot oven (375° F.) for 10 min. Reduce heat to moderate (350° F.) for 35 to 40 min. . . . And there's your pie! Piping hot and golden-brown. . . . full of rich, wheat fragrance, tender flakiness, and luscious flavor—three pastries you're sure of when you bake with Pillsbury's Best!

Purdue Ready for Buck Club

Coach Says Team 'Not Going for the Trip.'

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Since the Western conference football race gets down to the play-for-keeps stage this week, listen to the coaches preparing for Saturday's grid meetings:

Mal Elward, sorely needing a major victory for his Purdue team, lashes at forecasts making Ohio State the favorite with the words: "We're not going to Columbus for the ride."

Ohio State's coach, Paul Brown, fully expects the Boilermakers to unleash some plays kept hidden in the Pitt and Vanderbilt games.

Brown watched his varsity try to break up Purdue formations yesterday, then shelved offensive maneuvers for final practice sessions.

"The freshmen just tore the varsity apart," he declared. "The practice was very unsatisfactory, so we are going to spend additional time on defense—more than we anticipated and planned for."

This is the week that Notre Dame, with pressure momentarily off, can breathe easily for a few days before renewing an arduous schedule.

This is the week Notre Dame plays Carnegie Tech.

Next week things shouldn't be much worse for the Irish, Illinois is on the schedule for Oct. 25, and while Coach Frank Leahy and his associates will treat this one with caution, they see no need to get all worked up. That'll come later, before Army and Navy and Northwestern and Southern California.

The Carnegie-Irish game threatens to set a new low for pre-game forecasts this season. The Tartans aren't even hinting they might have an upset in their jerseys and Notre Dame isn't professing any fear of Coach Eddie Baker's gang.

Coach Eddie Anderson and his assistant, Nile Kinick, have been taking an active part on the field in Iowa's preparations for Wisconsin, but when Saturday comes, Tom Farmer and Bill Green will be put to work with aerials against the Badgers.

Wisconsin, which has a pretty fine offensive threat in Pat Harder and Ends Dave Schreiner and Pat Lyons, is more concerned with defense for its first home conference game.

Dick Good may get Illinois' call at quarterback Saturday against Drake during Liz Astor's layoff with an eye infection.

The South Bend, Ind., sharpshooter was the Big Ten's No. 1 boy on forward passes last year.

Captain Gene White and Fred Huff, two first string Indiana linemen, may not see action against Nebraska Saturday because of injuries.

Faced with the loss of stalwart Right Tackle Leon Cook for the Michigan game, Northwestern's Coach Lynn Waldorf inserted sophomore Tony Samartzia in the vacancy.

Tony is one of five erstwhile second string linemen being considered either for starting jobs Saturday or as reserves to see a great amount of action.

Michigan's second line is considered almost as good as the first but it's the backfield that worries Coach Fritz Crisler.

He's still concentrating on forward passing.

Trainers Plan Races For Maryland Horse.

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— Hope dies hard in the breast of many a horse trainer, and it never fades in the heart of a race track publicity head, but there is absolutely no truth in the rumor that Man-O-War is training for a comeback at Santa Anita this winter.

Old Seabiscuit accomplished a remarkable feat in climbing out of the turf graveyard and winning the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap in 1940.

But there was only one Seabiscuit.

Santa Anita has had more than its share of disappointments, Remember ill-fated Twenty Grand? Cavalcade? And of more recent date, Challedon?

Well, don't plunge now, but Challedon is coming back again. He's being pointed for another try, at least. The gallant Marylander, a great horse in his day, was forced to try a comeback at Santa Anita last winter, and again last summer at Hollywood park.

Kayak II is coming back too. He was the South American stand-in for C. S. Howard's Seabiscuit in 1939. He stood well, too, winning the hundred-grand-er that year.

He suffered a cracked hoof last winter, and has been on the shelf since.

There are other comeback hopes. A. A. Baroni's Specity, Tom Taggart's Big Flash. No, nothing has been heard of Heilly yet.

All of them will have to come back a long ways. Longer than usual, because Warren Wright is shipping quite an animal out this winter.

His name is Whirlaway.

Here Are Four Reasons Why Notre Dame Still Rambles

Here are Notre Dame's star backfield men, currently rambling over all opposition behind a fine line. From the left are Steve Juzwik, Dippy Evans, Bob Hargrave and Angelo Bertelli. The new soph star, Bertelli, has shown an amazing ability at completing passes. Evans scored three touchdowns against Indiana. Juzwik is the breakaway runner.

Redhair Gets Only Westinghouse 600

Orval Redhair marked the only 600 score in the Westinghouse "A" league at Colony alleys last night, scattering the maples for 218-193-205-616.

Marty Horvath turned in a 245 line for high game. Paul Herlihy rolled 225 for second high game.

Rams Work on Mud Plays For Loudonville Fracas

When Madison goes to Loudonville Friday the Rams are going to be big and tough—especially big and tough.

With the return of Dick Bishop, 190-pound left tackle to the line-up after an early season injury Coach Al Fendrick has moved Jack Spriesterbaugh, 185 pounds on the hoof, back to center and placed Stan Rinehart, 210 pounds, on the right tackle.

The Rams first team: going back into scrimmage after the Mt. Vernon tilt, is working on "mud" plays.

"Our team is going to be developed into a squad of excellent mudders," Fendrick added. "With the weather in its present condition we're going to work on plowing right through the mud."

The team after the rest seems in excellent condition Fendrick reported and no one is riding the bench.

So far on paper the Loudonville team has the better record, having won all three of their games with their goal line uncrossed.

However, they have not been playing the caliber of teams the Rams have been tackling. Danville, Doylestown and Bellville are not in the same league with teams such as Mt. Vernon and Denison both of which the Madison squad gave a very convincing battle before being downed.

During the remainder of the week's practice, Fendrick is going to push pass defense work with the Rams in preparation for the aerial barrage the Loudonville club is credited with supporting.

So far this year, however, Madison has been getting quite a bit of practice with passes during the regular play and tricky passes are no novelty.

Last week Mt. Vernon's Yellow Jackets used the aerial means to score all three of their scores and the Rams picked up quite a few pointers before the game was completed, in how to combat such play.

During the final periods, in fact, the Rams began to catch the savvy and it might just be that Loudonville will find the air over the Ram part of the field very bumpy and the flying ceiling exceptionally low.

In any event Fendrick seemed confident last night that his team would give a good account of itself and make things very rough for the Loudonvilles. Especially through the line. Fendrick said that with his heavy line toughened and ready they stood a good chance of outweighting and outchugging through the entire game.

Slate Basketball Golden Jubilee

NEW YORK —(AP)— The golden jubilee of basketball will be celebrated during the next six months by a campaign designed to commemorate the name of Dr. James Naismith, its inventor, with a suitable monument at Springfield, Mass.

The celebration begins in Madison Square Garden Nov. 19 with a golden jubilee tournament that will conclude on Nov. 24.

Four of the country's outstanding amateur basketball teams—20th Century Fox of Hollywood, National A. A. U. champions; Phillips 66 of Bartlesville, Okla.; Legionnaires of Roanoke, Southern and Middle Atlantic champions; and Ohrbach A. A. Metropolitan champions—will participate in the metropolitan division.

The nationwide observance will include a drive for the establishment of a basketball hall of fame at Springfield—birthplace of the sport—which will include a museum and a model court.

BULLS DOWN BENGALS

AKRON —(AP)— Bob Davis, Columbus Bulls halfback, flipped touchdown passes to Rocci Spadacinni and Nelson Peterson, and scored two on runs to lead his team to a 35-6 American professional football league victory over the Cincinnati Bengals. Lenny Thom intercepted a pass for the Bulls' first score. Cincinnati's only count came on a plunge by Full-back Lee.

Is This Fair? Asks Bill Skiff

SEATTLE —(AP)— Bill Skiff, manager of the Seattle Rainiers of the Pacific Coast league who once was connected with the New York Yankees farm chain, became acquainted with Earl Reid there.

Reid was a young pitching giant the Yanks farmed to the Portland Coast league team for experience.

Recently Skiff was talking with Reid and the youngster said he was having a little trouble hiding his delivery. So Skiff gave him some pointers.

Then Reid went out and whipped Seattle in his next appearance.

SHIFT PRO GRIDDERS

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— Sale of Johnny Noppenberg, formerly of the University of Miami, to the Detroit Lions and Francis Maher, last year's Toledo university star, to the Cleveland Rams was announced by the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Professional Football league. Both are half-backs.

JOCKEY FACES DRAFT

NEW YORK —(AP)— Jockey Basil James, one of the nation's top-flight riders, today was placed in 1-A by his draft board, and selective service officials said he will report to his induction center in two or three days.

RELEASE COACH

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— Bernard F. (Mike) Kelly, of Indianapolis, has been released as a coach for the Pittsburgh Pirates baseball club, it was announced today.

Undeclared Teams Tangle In 'Breather'

Both Mansfield and Springfield Planned Easy Games This Week

MANSFIELD and Springfield high gridgers are all set for the game of the big deep breath out at Stadium field tomorrow night.

Last spring Coach Paul Snyder of the Mansfield Tygers and Coach Jim McDonald of the Springfield Wildcats sat across the table from each other at the dinner closing the coaches' clinic at Ohio State.

McDonald was moaning: "Here I booked you guys for a breather the week before our game with Hamilton."

"Ha, ha," laughed Snyder, not too enthusiastically, "and we booked you for a breather before our Massillon game."

Tomorrow night the big breather game brings together the undefeated Tygers and undefeated

Wildcats, each with four straight victories to their credit without a tie, and somebody's record is going to be spoiled just before the big game of the season.

Mansfield's Tygers are in fine shape and ready to meet their first big test of the season. They came out of the Newark game without injury, and they have John Butler back in uniform ready to go in at tackle or blocking back.

They've been brushing up all week on plays they haven't needed to use in games thus far, and fans are apt to see a more open type of game by the Tygers than the almost strictly ground game they've employed thus far.

The big Springfield line, averaging 185 from tackle to tackle, may force the Tygers into an open game whether they want to take to the air or not. Three times against Dayton Stivers last week the heavy Springfield line held for downs on the 20 yard line.

The five Springfield players who started the Stivers game on the bench because of injuries, are reported in condition again and ready to go. Two of them, Ends Bean and Wolf, got into the Stivers tilt as subs, Bean taking one pass from Brooks Lawrence for a 16-yard gain.

In spite of their weight advantage in the line, the Springfielders are a passing outfit, with any of the four backfield starters capable of heaving the ball, and with Bean a master at snatching the aerials.

The Downtown Coaches association, after a conference with the high school athletic association officials yesterday, announced they will send the Tyger band to Massillon next week on the special train arranged by the Downtown Coaches.

This means the fan organization will provide transportation for 77 high school musicians, drum majors and majorettes.

The special train, with 15 cars, will leave Mansfield at 5:20 p. m. for Massillon, and will return half an hour after the game. Combination train and game tickets may be obtained downtown at Yunker Sports, Mansfield Athletic Supply, Tawse's pharmacy, Brown's drug store, Central drug store, and the Pennsylvania station.

Tickets for the Springfield game may be purchased at these places, with the exception of the railroad station.

Shelby Meets Redman Club

Whippets Will Attempt Return To Win Column.

SHELBY—Shelby Whippets will attempt a return to the win column Friday when they meet the Bucyrus Redmen under the floodlights of the Bucyrus field in a North Central Ohio League game.

Coach William Query's Whippet eleven has broken even so far this season with two wins and two losses. Shelby defeated Norwalk, 26 to 7, and Gallon, 37 to 0, but lost games to Willard, 7 to 6, and to Ashland, 20 to 0.

Bucyrus will observe Dad's and Alumni day at the game. The fathers of the players will be guests, as well as players on the Bucyrus eleven of other years.

The Whippets are expected to be in top condition for the game although a number of the players received minor injuries in the Ashland game. Shelby has broken even so far in the league games with one win and one loss.

The feature game of the NCO league takes Marion Harding to Ashland on the same night.

The results of this game is expected to tell whether the Whippets have a chance yet to stay in the running for a share of the league title. Ashland is undefeated in four games, while Marion Harding has several ties including one with Mount Vernon to mar its record. Ashland won league games from Shelby and Bucyrus.

High School Football Stars Flock to Ohio State Club

By DON SMITH
COLUMBUS (AP)—The magic name of Paul Brown has attracted the freshmen team at Ohio State that is at least three deep in each position, topped by six players from last year's state championship Massillon eleven.

Not only did 10 of the players named to the United Press All-Ohio eleven follow Brown to Ohio State but two of the prize catches in Michigan and an all-Pennsylvania center have decided to cast their lot with the new Buck mentor.

One Buck freshman already has Ohio State fans on the edge of their seats anticipating his varsity debut. He is huge Horace Gillom. The 200-pound Massillon Negro and is easily the class of the 40-man squad working out under Freshman Coach Trevor Rees.

Not only is Gillom rated as good pass receiver as Charley Anderson but he can punt 50 and 60 yards and is one of the four fastest men on the yearling team.

Other Massillon gridgers in the freshmen camp are tackle Eli Mosberg takes honors in B'Nai B'Rith loop.

By a margin of just one pin, Bob Lorentz scored a high game of 211 in the Westinghouse "P" league last night at Colony alleys.

Dudley Still Tops Ground Gaining Backs.
By GAIL FOWLER
SEATTLE (AP)—Swashbuckling Bill Dudley of Virginia, the nation's highest scorer, continued today as intercollegiate football's top ground gainer for the second week.

He collected 315 yards in the air and 331 the ground for a total offensive figure of 646 yards in 92 plays, with one interception, for a .833 percentage.

A sensational sophomore, Elmer Madank of Detroit, ranks next to Dudley in total offense — gains rushing and passing, Johnny Griggs of Holy Cross is the second best rusher.

All-American Frankie Albert of Stanford is the nation's outstanding forward passer, despite his difficulties with the wet ball when his team was blanketed by Oregon State last week.

Frankie has completed 28 of 53 passes for 302 yards and a .528 percentage. He's had five interceptions.

"Barnacle Bill" Busik of Navy is the leading punter with a 45-yard average for his 11 punts. One of Madank's Detroit teammates, Veteran Howard Keating, an end, is the leading pass receiver with 14 caught for 168 yards.
